Maura McCloskey joined Jackson Cross Partners in 2019 as a data analyst in the Advisory Services Division. Since joining the firm, Maura's focus has been on data migration, data management, data validation, and project management.

Prior to joining Jackson Cross full-time, Maura worked as an advisory intern at Jackson Cross from June 2015 to June 2019. As an advisory intern, Maura assisted in an extensive document collection project for an international fast-food chain, aided in document reconciliation for many clients, and assisted with the data migration of lease abstract information. In addition, Maura was an integral part in the training and managing of newly hired interns.

Maura earned her Bachelor's in Business Administration with a major in Finance from Temple University's Fox School of Business. While attending Temple University she was a member of Women in Finance, a Student Professional Organization. In her free time, Maura volunteers for Therapy Dogs International and The Seeing Eye.
